About This Content

The word legendary is thrown around often, but on the subject of early '90s motorsport, the legacy of DTM race cars has proven worthy of that title. The unique handling and sounds of these cars become rarer by the minute, but they can be yours to experience every day in RaceRoom. Purchase the 1992 DTM car pack and add 5 racing legends to your lineup.

Cars

- Audi V8 DTM
  Based on its street going brother, Audi developed the Group A V8 for entry into the Deutsche Tourenwagen Meisterschaft (DTM). The early '90s belonged to the Audi V8 DTM, where it was the only car in the series to possess a V8 engine and 4-wheel-drive.

- BMW M3 Sport Evolution
  Reveling in the success and popularity of the E30, BMW pushed the model to new heights in 1990 with the M3 Sport Evolution. Today only a handful of these beloved cars remain, but you can drive the BMW M3 Sport Evolution daily here in RaceRoom.

- Ford Mustang GT DTM
  The Ford Mustang GT DTM is a lightweight car with loads of horsepower and dragon like sound. This legendary and increasingly rare car roars to life every day in RaceRoom.

- Mercedes 190E EVO II DTM
  The attention grabbing Mercedes 190E EVO II DTM drives as good as it looks. In 1992 Klaus Ludwig claimed the title in this car and Ellen Lohr became the first woman to win a DTM race behind the wheel of her 190E.

- Opel Omega 3000 Evo 500
  The limited series Opel Omega 3000 Evo 500 was built to compete in DTM and its 3-litre straight-6 engine could push the car to a top speed of 300 km/h. Bring this legend to your RaceRoom lineup.

Played for a Hour.....Sloppy controls. Game mechanics also sloppy.. it's identical to the normal talion outfit.. I'll say right away that I turned off all the monsters, so I review this game exclusively as a walking simulator/puzzle. I knew in advance about this option, that is why I bought it.

It seemed that the aesthetic part is the main catch of the game, judging by screenshots and trailer.
well, it's true but only partly.
High places and cliffs look essentially cool here.
Aside from very beautiful landscapes, there are plenty of basic-looking dungeons/caves and too much of same looking labyrinth-like corridors in them.
(to the point that you need to remember turns instead of remembering interior differences)

Especially it becomes a problem on levels with switches which slowly returning to initial position while the doors they opened slowly closing.
I know this puzzle type was used very often, but even in Heretic (1994) it was not that frustrating (because there was always enough time and corridors were quite different. there is barely enough time here so you often need a few tries) before you take to the next new location, you will spend enough time in these corridors to lose interest in exploring (what happened to me)

There are several level maps in the game, but they cannot be "memorized" to open later by keyboard button. they only can be looked at in certain places.

Also, there are very few checkpoints and if you exit to the main menu you need to start from the last checkpoint.
You can't change any option of game before exiting to the main menu (i.e. abandoning you current position on level)

Having gone through a rather long location, I pressed Backspace (because I confused the button in the tutorial) and got into the menu (Backspace work the same as Esc), now I have to go through the location from the beginning.
(conidering that I only managed to dash into the closing door only from the fifth try in some places, I don't want to repeat it again)

It was rather exhausting than joyful experience, even though I like atmospheric puzzles.
If it frustrating even without monsters I can assume that with them it becomes rather hardcore.
I suspect, it's definitely not for everyone.. Highly recommend you check this one out. It's inexpensive, fun and challenging.

A load of mechanics and systems are put into this co-op brick breaker but at the cost of the diluting the basic gameplay which results in a sub-optimal end product.. It's a fun game. Do not expect anything new, it is just a simple game but entertaining. NO NO NO, not even once!. This game is cheap, yes, but not terribly interesting. The controls for the parkour elements are finnicky and difficult, and the platforming challenges just aren't that grand. It also uses some beat-em-up sections to change things up a little; those are more of a hindrance than an actual challenge. You can pretty much button mash through all of those. They're just tedious and exceedingly repetitive with the simplistic controls.

Quite a fun game that will give you a few hours of entertainment.
I haven't seen a game like it before.
Still runs flawlessly on Windows 7 SP1, be it the graphics now day don't look great, but the design is good.. Dark story with beautiful artwork..

8/10. When you are bored of playing the games you got you will enjoy this game. I say everyone should get this game. If you've played any browser-based Pokémon rip-off, you've already played this game.

All they've added is an unresponsive UI (I can't even collect gold from my gold mine) and real money into the mix. Oh and let's not forget to add an awful mobile energy system!

Kinda like how they made an awful MMO with all the failings of many other bad MMOs, but the difference is they threw realy money into the mix.

If you really like this kind of game, do yourself a favor and play Pokémon instead. Or Siralim, Siralim is legit.. \u7b97\u662f\u771f\u6b63\u7684\uff0c\u4e00\u6b21\u53c8\u4e00\u6b21\u7684\u6bc1\u4e86\u56de\u5fc6\uff0c68\u5143\u5c31\u5f53\u6350\u7ed9\u5de5\u4f5c\u5ba4\u4e86\u628a\u3002

As a clicker the maintenance for the first two rounds is quite labour intensive, after about the third or 4th round, if you don't spend the coin on candidates, you will begin to get landslides, after the first week you can get multiple in a day and continue to grow your potential multipliers.

. Great game to help pass the hours. Great with many friends and strangers alike.I love the design which remind me of the classic game B*r Man and enjoy the feel to the controls. Also basic specs help connect with people with lower grade computers or laptops.. Great strategy game! I had the board game and I loved it, I love the PC game even more.
